NATIONAL PROSECUTING AUTHORITY ACT
[CHAPTER 7:20]Publication of General Principles Pursuant to Section 260(2) of the Constitution by the Prosecutor-General

IT is hereby notified, in terms of section 13 of the National Prosecuting Authority Act [Chapter 7:20], as read with section 260(2) of the Constitution of Zimbabwe, that the Prosecutor-General has set out the general principles upon which he or she decides whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings in the Schedule below—

J. TOMANA,

4-9-2015.

Prosecutor-General.

SCHEDULE

GENERAL PRINCIPLES BY WHICH THE NATIONAL PROSECUTING AUTHORITY DECIDES WHETHER
AND HOW TO INSTITUTE AND CONDUCT
CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS

Accepting the responsibility entrusted upon me by the Constitution of Zimbabwe to independently decide whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings without being directed or controlled by anyone and most importantly aiming to make the said decision without fear, favour, prejudice or bias (section 260 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe).

Affirming the supremacy of the Constitution of Zimbabwe, whose obligations bind every person, natural or juristic, including the State and all executive, legislative and judicial institutions and agencies of Government at every level to fulfil (section 2 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe).

Accepting that Zimbabwe has a fully and richly evolved criminal justice system developed over many years of legislative and case law development. Submitting therefore to the requirement under the Constitution of Zimbabwe as provided for under section 260(2) as read with section 13 of the National Prosecuting Authority Act [Chapter 7:20] hereby publicly disclose the general principles by which the NPA decides whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings.

In the broadest terms I, Johannes Tomana, the first Prosecutor-General of the Republic of Zimbabwe, affirm that the decision on whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings shall be guided by the effective Constitution, statutes, case law and standard operating procedures that are within the body of Zimbabwe's criminal law; including the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act [Chapter 9:07], Supreme Court Act [Chapter 7:10], the rules of the three respective Courts, the Prosecutors handbook and precedents that are already effective and in use as of the date of gazetting of this general notice.

On my behalf and on behalf of all public prosecutors, I affirm that I shall act in accordance with the Constitution of Zimbabwe and the law. I further affirm that I shall act without fear, favour, prejudice or bias. I affirm that I shall have due regard to the dictates of public interest.

On my behalf and on behalf of all public prosecutors, I undertake, in the exercise of our functions, not to—

- (a) act in a partisan manner; and
- (b) further the interests of any political party or cause; and
- (c) prejudice the lawful interests of any political party or cause or violate the fundamental rights of any person.

I accept that I and all public prosecutors shall not be active members or office-bearers of any political party or organisation.

The specific and broader statement hereunder does not in any way seek to substitute the broad statement above but must be understood to be an address on matters that I consider need special attention as they present opportunity for misunderstanding if not specifically pronounced upon.

Background

Section 258 of the Constitution of the Republic of Zimbabwe, establishes the National Prosecuting Authority (NPA) with the Prosecutor-General as the head of the NPA. In terms of section 260(2) of this Constitution, the Prosecutor-General is required to formulate and publicly disclose the general principles by which he or she decides whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings.

Section 13 of National Prosecuting Authority Act provides that the Prosecutor-General shall, not less than six months after enactment of the Act, in the case of the first Prosecutor-General; publish by General Notice in the Gazette and in such other media as he or she considers will bring such principles to public notice, the general principles by which he or she decides whether and how to institute and conduct criminal proceedings.

The National Prosecuting Authority Act came into force on 2nd January, 2015. Considering the importance of these principles, consultations with various important stakeholders were conducted. The important stakeholders consulted were the Judicial Service Commission through the Chief Justice, the Secretary to the Judicial Service Commission and, the Judge President, the Minister of Finance and Economic Development for his experience as the former Attorney General and negotiator of the Constitution, the Commissioner General of Police, the Law Society of Zimbabwe, the Zimbabwe Lawyers for Human Rights and the International Commission of Jurists.

The general principles are not intended to replace the current legislative framework but to give a broad outline of the rationale and processes behind the making of decisions by the NPA in the exercise of prosecutorial duties. These guidelines would help in understanding for instance the decision to prosecute or not to prosecute. They will further assist in giving lay people the rationale and a lucid presentation on the prosecutorial role, duties, discretion and mandate without being overly legalistic. These general principles give a general understanding on the considerations that support the decision on whether to prosecute and how to conduct criminal proceedings.

FACTORS CONSIDERED ON WHETHER OR NOT TO INSTITUTE CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS

1. Reasonable suspicion

Reasonable suspicion will be sustained if there are reasonable grounds to believe that a crime was committed. Reasonable suspicion will also be established if it is genuinely believed or suspected that a crime has been committed and where any reasonable person would have held the same belief or suspicion. The reasonable suspicion has to encompass the essential elements of the charge. For example for the charge of murder, it would be essential to prove that there was intention to kill in order for the accused to be prosecuted on a charge of murder. All that shall be ascertained is not whether there is a defense, but whether there is reasonable and probable cause for prosecution.

2. Reasonable evidence

Evidence is any species of proof, or probative matter that can be presented at a trial. The evidence has to be reasonable enough to assist in the establishment of the fact that a crime was committed. The evidence also has to establish that there is a prima facie case to prosecute. A duty to prosecute shall arise in all cases where a prima facie case is established and there is no compelling reason for a refusal to prosecute. In all cases in respect of which a prima facie case is established, by the allegation as supported by witness statements, real and documentary evidence of such a nature that if presented in a court of law by the prosecution as admissible evidence, the court would convict, prosecution would decide to prosecute. The evidence has to be obtained in terms of the law for it to be admissible in court.

Factors to be considered when evaluating Evidence

- (a) How strong is the case for the State?
- (b) Is the evidence admissible?
- (c) Are the State witnesses credible?
- (d) Is the evidence reliable?
- (e) Is the evidence available?
- (f) How strong is the case for the defense?

3. Public interest

Public interest is something in which the public has some peculiar interest by which their legal rights or liabilities are affected. There is however a constant need to strike a balance between the interest of the public in effective criminal law enforcement and the interest of the public in the protection of the rights and freedoms of all individuals suspected of, arrested for, charged with, convicted of and sentenced for a crime. A person may in the public's subjective view be factually or morally guilty of a crime, but that does not mean they will be legally guilty. As a result each case shall be analysed closely on a case by case basis in order to establish the fact that the accused is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

The nature of the offence to be prosecuted shall be considered taking into account the means, the gravity or triviality of the offence and the effect the crime had on the victim. The manner in which the offence was committed is also a consideration that affects public interest.

Peculiar circumstances of the offender are important. The age of the offender who might either be very old or very young, mental state of mind, family set up and background are also factors that will guide the public interest considerations. The offender could have already gone through some tragic personal circumstances.

An example of such is when a father through his negligent driving caused the death of his young children, which he however, had no intention of doing. The emotional punishment the death of the children has on the father would be viewed by the public as sufficient punishment without recourse to seeking the imposition of further criminal sanction on him.

OTHER GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. Section 259(11) of the Constitution of Zimbabwe

Where a crime has allegedly been committed in contravention of the law and there is no docket forwarded by the Police for prosecution, the Prosecutor-General may direct the Commissioner-General of Police to investigate and report to him or her on anything which, in the Prosecutor-General's opinion, relates to an offence or alleged or suspected offence, and the Commissioner-General of Police must comply with that direction.

It must be noted that this directive is exercised in the utmost extreme cases and cannot be used for trivial matters as it is accompanied by other consequences. The burden of proof would be upon the prosecution to prove that the police would have failed to execute their mandate and core business as stipulated in section 219 of the Constitution. The Police must be accorded the time and opportunity to fully execute this mandate and therefore the use of this power by the Prosecutor-General to give direction to the Commissioner-General is exercised only after the following has been satisfied in each individual case—

- (1) an initial report was made at the relevant charge office and no action was undertaken; and
- (2) a second report made to the District Police Officer and no action was undertaken; and
- (3) a third report was made to the Provincial Police Officer and again nothing was done; and
- (4) a final report should then be lodged with the Commissioner General and in the event that the Commissioner-General does not take any action in respect of the report, the complainant can lawfully bring this to the attention of the Prosecutor-General who can then lawfully invoke this provision as it will be clear that all domestic remedies within the Police structures would have been exhausted. It should be noted that there should be evidence that the reports cited above were actually made.

2. Stopping prosecutions

This is the umbrella provision that also governs the power to stop prosecutions as provided for by section 9 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act [Chapter 9:07]. It provides that at any time before conviction, the State can stop any prosecution commenced by any other person charged with the prosecution of criminal cases, if the accused would have already pleaded to any charge, he or she shall be entitled to a verdict of acquittal in respect of that charge. This provision can be invoked after further considerations of the above mentioned factors.

3. Certificate nolle prosequere

In cases where the NPA declines to prosecute any accused person for any alleged offence, any private party, who can show some substantial and peculiar interest in the issue of the trial arising out of some injury which he or she has individually suffered by the commission of the offence, may apply to the Prosecutor-General for permission to undertake a private prosecution, in any court competent to try the offence the person is alleged to have committed. The proof that lawful authority to so prosecute has been granted is evidenced by the production of a certificate signed by the Prosecutor-General himself, stating that I have seen the statements or affidavits on which the charge is based. This is provided for in terms of section 16 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act. It is also provided for in section 12(d) of the National Prosecuting Authority Act. As the Prosecutor-General, I will however continue to exercise control over the private prosecution, and exercise the power to take over or to terminate the prosecution after consideration of the above mentioned factors we consider on whether and how to institute criminal proceedings.

In all cases that the NPA declines to prosecute at the public instance, unless the reason for declining to so prosecute relates to the absence of a prima facie case and no public interest considerations dictate otherwise, the Certificate for Private prosecution shall be issued. It should be stressed that this Certificate is not just issued without careful consideration as it, by its very nature, affects the fundamental rights enshrined under the Constitution, specifically section 50 (Rights of arrested and detained persons) and section 70 (Rights of accused persons). This important element must always be considered to avoid this process undermining the other Constitutionally guaranteed fundamental rights above.

4. Section 121 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act

In terms of section 121 of the Criminal Procedure and Evidence Act [Chapter 9:07], if the State is aggrieved by a decision of a court in admitting an accused person to bail in an application for bail pending trial, the NPA (on behalf of the State), may invoke this provision, whose effect is to suspend the decision of the court for seven days. The NPA may then either file an appeal against the decision of the court or withdraw the invocation before the expiry of the seven days if it is decided that there is no good enough basis to pursue the appeal against the decision of the Court.

This section is important because it is a provision that prosecution relies upon for challenging decisions to grant bail which, based on its consideration, may not be in the best interests of the administration of justice.

Due to the controversy surrounding the invocation of this provision, the NPA will sparingly rely on the use of this provision. The invocation will therefore be subject to the approval of an officer at or above the level of a Chief Public Prosecutor who should also obtain the written concurrence of the Prosecutor-General.

PROCEDURE FOR THE CONDUCT OF CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS

Dockets

Prosecution shall in all instances be commenced upon the receipt of a police docket or any other competent institution which can lawfully investigate and compile a docket such as the Anti-Corruption Commission. A docket must contain the following:- the details of the accused person, time, date and place of the commission of the alleged offence and any other miscellaneous information. The docket shall also have the investigative diary which shows the steps taken in the investigation of the case ending with the summary of the case together with the observations of the investigating officer submitting the docket to the NPA. It should also have the witness statements from which the NPA gets its evidential requirements to undertake prosecution, as a prima facie case will have to be established in all cases. These statements should contain all the relevant facts of the case. The docket should also contain documentary exhibits such as forged cheques, obscene or offending publications etc. The docket should also contain a warned and cautioned statement or reply to the charge if the accused has made a statement or reply. The accused may decline to make such a statement. The charge drafted by the investigating officer will also be in the docket. The docket can also contain other relevant miscellaneous papers with evidential value.

After perusal of the docket by the NPA, either of the following decisions may be made; whether to—

- request the police to investigate the case further; or
- institute a prosecution; or
- enter into a plea or sentence agreement; or
- decline to prosecute and to opt for pre-trial diversion or other non-criminal resolution; or
- decline to prosecute without taking any other action.

It is therefore crucial to note that the State can only prosecute where there is a docket. This is fully provided for under Chapter 3 of the Prosecutors Handbook. After receipt of a docket the factors mentioned above on whether or not to institute and conduct criminal proceedings then come into play.

Effective co-operation with the Police and other investigative agencies is essential to the efficiency of the prosecution process. If a case is not efficiently prepared initially, it is less likely to lead to a successful prosecution or result in a conviction.

Conclusion

In the day to day discharge of the prosecutorial mandate as provided for under the Constitution of Zimbabwe, I and all public prosecutors shall endeavor to be fair and just at all times upholding the constitutional rights of all persons who are presented to the NPA for prosecution. I and all public prosecutors shall at all times endeavor to service the interests of victims of crime to the best of our abilities as mandated by the law.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE*Conditions of Acceptance of Copy

FAILURE to comply with any of the following conditions will result in the rejection of copy, and no responsibility can be accepted if such rejection should affect any date contained in such copy or any requirement of publication on a specific date.

Persons drafting any kind of notices are strongly advised to follow the guidance offered in—

- (a) the Instructions Relating to the Drafting and Typing of Legislation (Attorney-General's Circular 1 of 1978); and
- (b) the Manual of Style for the Drafting and Preparation of copy published by Printflow (Private) Limited; which two booklets are intended for complementary use.

In these conditions, other than where a particular kind of copy is specified, "copy" means copy for all matter contained in the Gazette itself and for subsidiary legislation issued as supplements to the Gazette.

1. (1) Other than by prior arrangements, only original typing is accepted.

(2) Carbon-copies are not normally acceptable, other than in cases where the original typing has to be legally retained, elsewhere, as, for example, in the case of a proclamation.

(3) Computer print-outs are not accepted automatically, as discussion may be necessary with regard to the extra time and costs involved.

2. (1) All copy must be clear and legible, and there must be double or one and a half spacing between the lines.

(2) Any corrections or alterations made by the originator, must be clearly effected in blue or black ink, using editorial marks—not proof-reader's marks:

Provided that any copy containing extensive alterations will be rejected.

3. (1) Copy must appear on one side only of each sheet of paper.

(2) Except as is provided in subsection (2) of section 8, paper must not exceed 210 millimetres in width.

(3) If copy comprises two or more sheets of paper, all sheets must be numbered consecutively, in arabic figures, preferably in the top right-hand corner.

(4) Where any matter is added after the copy has been prepared, and such additional matter results in one or more sheets being inserted between those already numbered, all sheets must be renumbered from there onwards—not, for instance 7, 7b, 8, etcetera.

4. Photographic copy or copy produced on a duplicating machine may be accepted if it is abundantly clear.

5. (1) Should any copy—

- (a) exceed 10 pages of double-spaced typing on size A4 paper; or
- (b) contain tabular or other matter which involves complicated setting; it will be classed as "lengthy" copy, and will be required to be submitted not less than 21 days before the date of closing for the Gazette in which it is to be published.

(2) Lengthy copy may be accepted at less than 21 days' notice if—

- (a) the work involved is of a straight forward and non-tabular nature; and
- (b) the total volume of work on hand for the time being permits its acceptance.

6. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in these conditions, any copy—

- (a) which is of national importance, and which is originated as a matter of urgent necessity, may, by prior arrangement, be accepted late for the current week;
- (b) may, due to shortage of staff or to technical considerations, be delayed until conditions permit its processing.

7. Copy must not be submitted as part of a letter or a requisition. It must appear on a separate sheet of paper, on which there is no instruction or other extraneous matter.

8. (1) In cases where notices have to be published in tabular form, copy must be drafted exactly as it is to appear. If printed forms for any such notices are unavailable, advertisers must prepare their own forms. While it is not necessary to include the preamble, the box-headings must be there, and, where applicable, the number of the form; for example, "Insolvency Regulations—Form 3".

(2) In the case of copy for tabular notices, the provision of subsection (2) of section 3 does not apply.

9. Copy for all advertisements, whether sent by post or delivered by hand, must be accompanied by a requisition or a letter which clearly sets out—

- the name and address of the advertiser; and
- the debtor's code number, if any; and
- the required date or dates of publication.

10. If a typographical error occurs in the Gazette, it is rectified as soon as possible by a correcting notice without charge to the ministry or department concerned, subject to the following conditions—

- that such error is reported to the editor within three months from the date of publication; and
- that the relevant copy, upon re-examination, is proved to be abundantly clear; and
- that the correction of such error is legally necessary.

(2) If a drafting error is not detected before publication, the originating ministry or department is required to draft its own correcting notice, take it to the Attorney-General for vetting and pay for such notice to be published.

(3) For the removal of doubt—

- a typographical error is made by a typographer;
- a typist's error is classed as a drafting error by reason of the fact that the officer responsible for drafting failed to check the typist's work.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE

Submission of Copy for Government Gazette Statutory Instruments and Notices

IT is hereby notified, for general information, that it is necessary to draw attention to the "Conditions for Acceptance of Copy", which appears in every issue of the Gazette; and particularly the need to submit lengthy copy, in the case of Statutory Instruments, at least 21 days before the date of closing for the Gazette in which the notice is to be published.

During the past few months or so there have been many cases where urgent copy for subsidiary legislation, which requires the signature of the President or a minister to give it effect, and which is of national importance, has been sent in for publication in the Gazette after closing-time. Whilst I acknowledge that it is the duty of Printflow (Private) Limited to give certain notices special treatment, I am, however, of the view that a Gazette Extraordinary has tended to be a must rather than a matter of priority in respect of unwarranted delays of urgent copy.

Whilst every effort will continue to be made to publish Extraordinaries on the required dates, copy must be submitted timeously so that it can be programmed into the printing-work-flow as soon as it is available.

H. MATINGWINA,
Gazette Editor.

Printflow (Private) Limited,

George Silundika Avenue (between Sixth Street and Epton Street), Harare (P.O. Box CY 341, Causeway).
